

Today is often difficult to find encouraging and uplifting news anywhere in the world of broadcast whether it be TV or Radio. I've recently been notified by one of my Christian Radio stations that the FCC is considering allowing new LPFM stations to take priority over current FM translator service. I listen to KLOVE Radio on my local station in San Diego 100.1 FM. This station offers a place of refuge. It offers music that I enjoy listening to, when I desire a break from the secular sounds on most radio station. I enjoy the diversity of the music on 100.1FM. KLOVE offers encouraging music and offers a place for people to call when they just need to talk or ask for prayer. To remove this station from the local community will leave a void for people who seek good news and a place of refuge. KLOVE provides news, music, and encouragement 24 hours a day. There is no risk of a foul-mouthed announcer or a crude joke. Just straightforward clean talk and good music.
